How did the school do during the pandemic? What we did well –

Amazingly. I understand some parents (and my own) frustration at repeated bubble closures, but under the circumstances it is the safest option whilst following government guidelines. I genuinely admire all the teachers efforts, everyone has come together and always managed to stay positive even whilst I'm sure it has been more than frustrating and devastating at times.

The response to the pandemic has been excellent - quick and effective communication to parents; quality online teaching and learning and good catch-up strategies in place. Children's wellbeing has been at the heart of the approach throughout. The check-in-and-chat sessions during lockdown, where children could chat to their friends, were a lovely touch and the book-led approach to wellbeing and dealing with different emotions is excellent.

The school has responded very well. In fact, the teachers have been too readily available during the mornings, evenings and weekends. They have gone over and above their call of duty and I think the teachers need to have protected time for their health and wellbeing where at certain times they should not be obligated to respond to messages and post messages. They too have a family to spend time with.

What we could do better –

Overall I have been pleased with the approach to the pandemic and the resources that have been made available to those at home. We have appreciated your efforts in trying to educate the members of our school who have continued to not follow covid guidelines. My only request would be that home learning sessions start quicker as the website work isn't up to date with the topics they are on. For example if a bubble closes by 12pm then home learning could start the next day as there is an afternoon to plan, even if it isn't the full lessons just something which was more specific to what they were actually learning in class.

Our response – The website's 15 daily plans are designed to be a 'recap and return to' set of activities and they are extensive in their size and there is a multitude of online resources such as Bug Club, Reading Plus, Maths Flex, and other links on our website. Once a bubble closed it was very difficult to start online learning straight away as staff had to pack resources, organise work packs or books for a range of children, go home themselves and then plan for online learning. It was just unmanageable to start online learning quickly and effectively. We followed guidance from Bolton to ensure that we start online 'live' learning a full school day after the bubble closure. So if we sent children home on a Monday at 10am, we would start 'live' learning on Wednesday as all other Bolton schools.

Any other comments – What we do well –

Beaumont Bright Stars is a welcomed addition and great for busy family lives

Thank you all for your hard work in such a difficult year.

So happy with the school. The kindness of the staff, Mrs Postle, Mrs Sumner are always so professional and helpful so is Mrs Bennet and Mr Bowden. They go above and beyond. Thank you so much for all of the help and how much effort you put into the children

Would be better if -

It would be useful to receive some regular feedback in regards to maths and English and how the teachers are helping each child individually reach these targets per half term.

Our response- We don't have the time to give more regular feedback but we always have an open door policy where you can contact the office and speak to the class teacher if you are concerned in between the reports and parents meetings we hold.
